Steropad has a perforated film surface, which prevents the pad from sticking to the wound. The pad can therefore be removed painlessly and with out damaging the healing wound.

It may be used for postoperative wounds or in fist aid for burns, lacerations and grazes. Steropad's highly absorbent construction helps draw unwanted moisture away from the wound whilst providing cushioned protection. Available in a range of sizes, in easy to use peel pouches, Steropad should be applied film side to the wound the bandaged or taped into position.
